Round table discussions
Case management (morning)

1. Does your country have a treatment policy for the case-management of malaria that is specific for pregnant women?
   • If yes,
     • what is the treatment policy in 2nd and 3rd trimester, 1st trimester, and in breast feeding women? (consider 1st and 2nd line treatment, non-severe and severe malaria, species, radical cure Pv, national vs sub-national, migratory populations).
     • How well is this implemented (i.e. what is really happening?)
   • If no, what data does your country need to consider such a policy?

   Bill Hawley and Meghna Desai

2. What are the main implementation impediments and how can we ensure treatment guidelines for pregnant women are adhered in the public, private other sectors (eg. NGOs), and how can we monitor it?

   Daniel Chandramohan & Maria Endang

3. Malaria elimination:
   • Does your country have a special policy for including/excluding women of child-bearing age / or pregnant women in Mass Drug Administration or mass screen and treat campaigns, focal case-based investigations, etc?
   • If yes, what is the policy? Can it be improved? What data is needed?
   • If no, what data is needed to consider such a policy?

   Azucena Bardaji & Jimee Hwang
